LONGEVITY POLE

45’ 2017

Who doesn’t want to live forever or at least for 100+ years? But how do we make this dream come true? To answer the question, the filmmakers went to the town of Oymyakon in the Sakha Republic near the North Pole – the coldest place in the Northern Hemisphere. Oymyakon is also the pole of longevity. Many generations of Oymyakon residents have effortlessly lived to be over 100. How is that possible? Is it the extremely rigorous climate or the purely organic diet? Or perhaps, the fact that for centuries, Oymyakon people have been isolated with barely any contacts with the outside world? What can we learn from those mysterious centenarians?

THE GEORGIAN WAR – TRUTH OR DARE?

1×50’ 2018

Same news is portrayed totally differently when it comes to Georgian-Ossetian conflict in August 2008. The information war started even before the rockets hit the ground in Tskhinvali. The word has been divided into ‘us’ and ‘them’. And even though international experts agreed that it was Georgia who started the war, Western countries can’t shake the prejudice and look at the events of 2008 through a more objective lens. NTV journalist Sergei Kholoshevsky attempts to change that and takes a deep dive into the reasons and facts of the Georgia-Ossetia war. He talks to civilians who lived through that war and to military and state officials who were in the middle of the fight. He asks tough questions and gets answers that shed a new light on the August 2008. But do you really want to know it?

DOPING WADAMETER

2×46’ 2016

The notorious World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) was created in 1999 and it changed everything in the world of global sports. WADA is allegedly independent, so why is it used to put pressure on certain countries? “Russia is the main doping center of our time,” they keep saying. However, the documents published by WADA itself are not conclusive: Russia is only 52nd in the world “doping rating.” So, what’s the deal? Is the main goal of WADA to fight against the doping regulations offenders or to give Russian sports a bad name? Who actually manages all these actions?

BURIED IN BAGHDAD

1×35’ 2018

News from Iraq no longer dominate the headlines. The voices of those who lived through the war and witnessed the Saddam Hussein’s execution have never been heard. This insightful documentary tells the tale of the country torn apart by powerful hegemonies that claimed to have the true cause but were never able to prove it. The film tackles some of the toughest stories from the streets of Baghdad, investigating many burning issues from the ineptness of the new regime to establish a true order to chilling details of Saddam Hussein last minutes. The interview with his executioner is the most unique part of the film. The man has never revealed himself or spoken to the journalists before.

CHILDHOOD’S END

1×44’ 2017

According to the official statistics, just over 700 teenagers in Russia had committed suicide last year but the unofficial numbers are much more terrifying... These were normal kids, from ordinary families and the only thing they had in common was the use of social networks... They escaped there seeking a sense of belonging, but instead they ended up killing themselves. Why?! The film investigates the reasons and the secret online communities that could have pushed teenagers to such tragic end. Was it their own decision or were they brainwashed and manipulated?
